
Press Release: 2degrees Announces Legal Know-How Partnership with Practical Law Company

Date: 13.03.2009

2degrees has partnered with PLC Environment (which forms part of Practical Law Company) to provide its 2,000 plus members with key environmental law content and know-how materials.

The partnership will provide 2degrees members (senior corporate climate change leaders, academics, NGOs, select professional and technical associations and policy influencers) with access to essential know-how materials on environmental law to enable them to do their jobs. With the cost and risk of climate change to business as a result of both existing, and future, legislation rising by the day, these invaluable know-how materials will ensure 2degrees members are kept up to date on the latest legislative developments, thereby mitigating risk and avoiding compliance gaps.

PLC Environment covers a wide range of environmental topics, including; climate change, renewable energy, carbon trading, chemicals, contaminated land and more. The materials are written and maintained by a team of specialist environmental lawyers with years of experience in the private and public sectors. A range of content about environmental law for those doing business in the UK will be available to 2degrees members including:

- Current awareness - practical legal updates
- Practice notes - containing clear and detailed explanations of key aspects of environmental law and policy

Links to further detailed PLC content will be available from the 2degrees platform.

Alex Lankester, Managing Director of 2degrees said:

"We know that risk and compliance are a key area of concern for our member base and this partnership with PLC Environment will provide 2degrees members with highly accessible environmental law know-how materials, thereby giving them access to critical legislative content - an essential component of their organizations' sustainability strategies."
